Prince of Wales' Birthday Races.

Yesterday afternoon a large concourse of people visited Beacon Hill to witness the races in celebration of the birth of the Prince of Wales. The day was fine and all seemed to enjoy themselves thoroughly. Much credit is reflected upon the management for the successful issue of the sports. Following is a list of the events:
First—Race for the Prince of Wales' Stakes, $75—Won by Reynolds' Vixen, Black Hawk coming in second.
Second—Hurdle Race, $50—Won by Reynolds' Jim, Governor coming in second. Other horses shut out.
Third—Navy Race, $40—Won by Lieut Wood's Butcher Boy, Mr Lukie's Champagne Charlie 2nd and Lieut White's Bill 3rd.
Fourth—Scurry Stakes—Won by T Parker's Bachelor Boy, J King's Polly 2nd and D Fraser's Fanny 3rd.
Fifth—Sailor's Race—Five horses entered, and the race was won by a Boxer sailor, a Seylla marine coming in second.
No accident occurred throughout the day, nor did any dispute as to the winning horses or unpleasantness of any kind mar the harmony of the occasion, which was by all considered a success.

ECCLIESIASTICAL UNION.—The scheme having for its object the political agglomeration of all the scattered British possessions in North America would appear to have suggested the idea of a union of Presbyterianism throughout British North America. Revision of the work of the Conference recently held at Montreal with that object in view, our contemporary of the Toronto Globe arrives at the conclusion that very great progress has been made and that there would appear to be no obstacle in the way of an early union. 'The Presbyterian Church of British North America,' says our contemporary, 'may at no distant day be a realized fact, and a General Assembly may hold its meetings sometimes, though not always in our Queen City with deputies from Vancouver Island on the one hand, and Newfoundland on the other.'

THAT REMARKABLE HEAD.—The interest manifested in the talking, living head of Prof. Dulchameau, continues unabated. Without doubt, the exhibition is the most extraordinary and thrilling ever presented. That it is an illusion is acknowledged; but the question How is it produced? is still perplexing everybody. There, on a table, is what purports to be the living head of a dead Turk. It opens and shuts its eyes, nods and talks! The table legs and the floor underneath the table are plainly seen. The top of the table is scarce an inch in thickness—and, of course, it would be impossible to conceal a man's body within that. There's the head and—where's the body? Ah! there's the rub! The thousands who have witnessed the exhibition are as much in the dark as those who have not. The exhibition will be repeated from 2:30 till 5 this afternoon.

THE MANCHESTER GUARDIAN records the death, at the age of seventy-seven, of Jeremiah Garnett, the publisher, and up to his death one of the proprietors of that journal. Garnett was one of the first, if not the very first, of provincial journalists who attempted to give detailed reports of local occurrences. The corps of shorthand writers which, every newspaper of standing now retains, had not then become an institution, and it is stated that on some occasions Garnett attended public meetings, set up his report in type without transcribing his notes, helped to work the press, and then assisted in distributing the printed copies.

FIRE.—About 8 o'clock yesterday morning Mr Henry King, farmer near Cedar Hill, discovered his barn to be on fire and nearly consumed. He was successful in rescuing a pair of horses and the harness; but three cows, a new buggy worth $250, all the grain and a quantity of hay were destroyed. Just as the horses left the blazing building the roof fell in. The loss is at least $1000. The fire is believed to have been the work of an incendiary. The flames were seen plainly from the city; but owing to the distance none of the engines were rolled.

THEATRE ROYAL.—'All that Glitters is Not Gold,' a fine dramatic comedy, was given last evening with the Pirley Sisters, Mrs Bird and Messrs Thornton, Melville, Dennis and Ward in the principal parts. Then came a pleasant interlude of song and dance, followed by the farce of 'Turn Him Out!.....To-night, 'The Youth who never Saw a Woman', and 'Turn Him Out', and the 'Shoo Fly Can-can,' a beautiful dance, will be offered.

A SMASH UP.—Yesterday afternoon a runaway horse attached to a dray dashed up Port street, then turned into Government street and collided with the coach of Mr Ferguson with such force that the hind axle of the vehicle was completely severed. Mr Ferguson was thrown from his coach quite a distance, but fortunately without receiving any serious injury to his person.

THE MUNICIPAL ELECTION.—The polls were opened at 8 yesterday morning and continued open till 4 in the afternoon. They will be reopened again this morning and will finally close at 4 o'clock. Mr Robertson is the only candidate; but it is asserted that there has been informality in the affair and that the whole proceedings will have to be gone into again de novo.

BASE BALL MATCH.—The return match between the Juvenile and Union Nines took place yesterday at Beacon Hill. The Union went in at the last innings—having 14 to make; and 14 was all they did make, the match resulting in a tie—62 each. The highest scores on the Union side were by Price and Friedman 8 each, and Elliott 9. On the Juvenile side, Dacey, Nagle and Davis made 8 each.

THE ENTERPRISE.—This steamer went to Ladley yesterday morning to take aboard outfit, and had not arrived at the hour of going to press last evening.

HOLIDAY.—Yesterday was observed by the closing of the stores and a general suspension of business.

WHIDBY ISLAND AS THE TERMINUS.—The Intelligencer announces that Col Flint, Gen Tilton, and one or two others in the employ of the North Pacific Railway, have left that place for Port Townsend, whence they will make an examining tour down the east side of the Sound, and possibly look at Whidby Island. These observations are with a view of determining as to the practicability of obtaining a suitable place for a terminus, if any such exists in that direction.

THE BARK ASHORE.—The report of a bark being ashore at San Juan harbor is Indian in its origin. The Indians claim to have left the wreck on Saturday; and that the Captain and crew were all ashore; in which case it is not a little strange that some message from the Captain was not brought to them. The California, which sailed yesterday, was instructed to keep a bright lookout in the locality indicated.

DR HELMCKEN will address the electors of Victoria City at St Nicholas Hall this evening at 7 o'clock. It is expected that the honorable gentleman will deal largely with the facts and circumstances connected with the Terms and the negotiations of the Delegates with the Canadian Government respecting the Union of this Colony.

PERSONALITIES.—We cannot and will not insert communications of a personal nature reflecting upon the character of either of the candidates, but letters bearing upon the political and commercial points at issue in the contest will be accepted.

RUMORED WITHDRAWAL.—It was rumored last evening that Mr Carey had withdrawn from the contest for the city and that he advises all his friends to vote for Mr Nicholson.

'TAINT' SO.—A report was bulletined yesterday that a gentleman of this city had won $1500 in the lottery. We are sorry to say that it 'aint so.' The gentleman held a 20th interest in a ticket that drew $100, and is therefore entitled to $5.

MARINE DISASTERS.—The San Francisco Commercial Herald publishes a list of the marine disasters on the Pacific coast from 1854 to 1869. It appears that the number of vessels which sustained disaster is 1041, involving a total loss of $34,182,069. Since 1863 the number of lives lost is 1501.

MECHANICS' INSTITUTE.—The Election and Debating Class in connection with the Institute will be resumed this evening at 8 o'clock with an interesting programme, which will doubtless attract a large attendance of members.

BOARD AND LODGING.—Gentlemen can be accommodated with or without Board and Lodging, with the comforts of an English home at a private residence. For address, apply at the office of this paper.

The steamer Hope left at 10 o'clock yesterday morning for New Westminster. She has been greatly improved, and will take her place next summer on the Fraser river route.

SEATTLE.—Mr Frank Gutenberg has removed his saloon to Yester's wharf, where his Victoria friends will find him.

The Captain—Wm Gardner—of the plunger 'Wild Irish Girl,' was drowned in Hood's Canal a few days ago.

The California sailed at daylight yesterday for Portland, carrying half-a-dozen passengers and a small freight.

The steamship Pelican will be due at this port on Friday.

A Protest.

VICTORIA, Nov 9th, 1870.
W. T. LEIGH, JR., Esq., RETURNING OFFICER FROM YATES STREET WARD:
SIR—I protest against you, as Returning Officer, in declaring that Mr A R Robertson is Mayor of Victoria, inasmuch as that a poll was demanded on nomination day, and that poll was never held, and consequently there has been no election; and furthermore no elector has had an opportunity to vote for Mr A R Robertson or any other person.
JOHN GORDON McKAY.

The New Candidate.

VICTORIA, Nov 9, 1870.
EDITOR BRITISH COLONIST.—I must confess that I am much surprised at seeing another Richmond in the field at this late hour of the struggle. It is well known that had Mr Nicholson come out at an earlier date previous to Mr Nathan's issuing his address, he would have had a very strong support; but to my mind I look upon Mr Nicholson as put forward by those influenced by private animosities. It is well known that large landed interests are held by a certain Saw Mill at Burrard Inlet—some 15,000 acres of land—which would be of very great value in case the terminus question can be settled in favor of that neighbourhood. I think that Mr Nathan has not been quite fairly used in this matter, but owing to the timely canvass and large number of pledged votes for Mr Nathan his return should be beyond all doubt. Should any secession take place from Mr Nathan's forces (of which no one with a grain of self respect would be guilty) the result may be that which all good citizens would deplore, for I fear in that case neither he nor Mr Nicholson would obtain the coveted honour.

LAST NIGHT'S DISPATCHES.

California.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov 8.—The Sixth U S District Court met to-day. In the case of the California Building and Loan Society, in bankruptcy, the appointment of trustees and advisory committee was confirmed.
W LAYTON has sued Professor Thomas Price for $25,000 damages for the loss of his eyes by the explosion of a glass apparatus with which the Professor was making experiments, while illustrating a lecture at the City College some months since. He alleges that the accident was the result of ignorance, or carelessness on the part of Price.
Weather warm and clear no indications of rain at present.

A small steamer has been built here for navigating the Langana of Carulan which runs back some thirty miles into the interior. This will open up new sources of supply for tropical fruit for this market.

SANDIEGO, Nov 6.—The steamer Senator, due yesterday, did not arrive until midnight in consequence of having been ordered by telegram to put to sea and intercept the Colorado which had sailed from San Francisco for Panama, having on board one Vantassel whom they were ordered to arrest on a charge of passing forged Government checks for $10,000 on the Bank of California. The Senator reached the coast of the Panama steamer at 8 o'clock Saturday morning and remained in the neighborhood until 10 o'clock, but failed to discover her.

STOCKTON, Nov 8.—The White Pine Saloon, situated at the corner of Main and Sutter streets, was entirely destroyed by fire this morning. Loss covered by insurance.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov 8.—No Liverpool wheat quotations were received to-day through the usual commercial sources. The price given yesterday was 10s 10l, but news telegrams received last night quote the market at 10s 5d. This was not generally believed.

Our French Letter "On the Wing."

[From our Special Correspondent.]

Amixes, September 24th 1870
Journalists may now well say, "Suffrage is the badge of all our title." Next to the Urbans and Franc-tireurs, they are the freest of all Free Corps. After vainly seeking a place to lay their heads beyond the range of Chassepots and Kuypers cannon, they are dropping in here like stragglers from Sedan—which is likely to become the Head Quarters of the Press Ambulant. The idea has been started to form a sort of Odd Fellows club—and some propose founding a "Peter the Hermit" journal, subscriptions to be handed over to the "Sick Soldiers Fund."

IT IS LIKE MATH AT A FURNAL, or in a house of mourning, to have a light heart surrounded by so many heavy ones, and when each hour long trains of the wounded pass before your eyes, the maimed heroes from the battle field of Sedan. The poor braves are conveyed to the hospital lying full length on camp beds, placed on wagons—motionless—eyes staring, but with no expression of pain. The waggons lead their horse, holding him in lest a false or too rapid step, might reopen the ghastly wounds. An escort of soldiers attend their comrades—their turn may come to-morrow. They collect miles en route, proof sufficient for those "who sit at home at ease," how succor is needed. The crowd gazes silently on the cortege—fearing, even by a word, to disturb those who have become thus for their sakes—brave young men from 22 to 30—wrecks for ever—Whom you —Think dying when they sleep,

And sleeping when they die.

THE NEWS FROM PARIS

is becoming intensely exciting, just at the moment when it is most difficult to receive. The city is completely invested—the invading armies, suddenly almost, joining in their grip around the out-skirts on the north-east and south—while the cavalry guard the west. There has been a great deal of hide-and-go-seek fighting—with the usual fluctuating results for both sides. It has harassed the Prussians a little, but has not delayed their movements. The defeat of General Vinoy—the Commander of the only regular army at present free in France—who escaped from Sedan, and rallied all straggling remnants to his side—is a heavy blow and great discouragement. What the next attack may be, or from what direction it may come, is uncertain. That Paris will make vigorous sorties may be expected, but the disciplined Prussian masses, discounting almost victories in advance. No more troops can enter Paris till the Prussians levy new armies, which the Prussians will endeavour to prevent, by destroying in detail. Time is the conqueror on both sides—the quicker the blows the more chances for Moltke. If the population of the south and west would rise en masse—seizing every weapon at hand, could they cope with the scientific discipline of the Germans? This is the only view now remaining of what aid outside France can afford her capital.
The Prussian siege trains cannot yet have arrived, composed as they largely are, of the cannons taken from the French at Sedan.
The prospect of peace are nil. One does not know how far the missions of Thiers and Jules Favre have succeeded.

THE HOPE OF PEACE seems for a season to have bid the world farewell. The carnage has not been sufficient to clear the path for diplomacy nor for humanity to interfere. France, despite all her adversaries, is still courageous. Her sons are ready—eager to die—"dispose of us as you please," they say to the Government. But organization—the generals—where are they? From henceforth the struggles will be massacres, not battles. Ah, "the Napoleon"—as the French allude to him—has left a terrible legacy to his late subjects. They do not want to make a scape-goat of him, for he had done his duty in placing the nation in a proper state of defence—in not sacrificing his life for Napoleon the "Fourth"—they would accept the consequences of their attack on Germany, without a murmur.

Any peace based on the diminution of French territory would never be accepted till the nation is crushed. The man who would propose such a peace now to his countrymen would be torn to atoms. "Take what you please—take all—when we lie mangled and exhausted—but to consent to our dishonor"—for such would be the parting with Alsace and Lorraine—"we never will." Such are the prevailing sentiments, shared alike by high and low—expressed with an unanimity not to be misundstood. It is a hard fate—but is not desperate. France will recover, although the period of her convalescence be long. She has the seeds of vitality that will not permit her to die out. She has the world, with ready hands to minister to her recovery—she has the future to regain her greatness, and even teach nations how to live.

If proofs are needed of the bona fide intention of the PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT it is placed beyond suspicion by their convoking the Constituent Assembly for the 2nd instead of the 16th of October. In the hands of that estate of the realm they will place the power that was forced upon them by necessity when the Second Empire collapsed. Not more than 20 days in existence, this government of truly honest men has swept away every trammel imposed by 'the Napoleon' on civil and political liberty. The nation stands before the invader, erect and proud, and proceeds to elect its House of Representatives despite him. Something less than one-third of the full complement of deputies will be found wanting as the districts are occupied by the Germans. There will be no more official candidates—no more judges to prostitute their office by becoming canvassers—no more ballot boxes with false bottoms or bulletins forged by authority. Every 50,000 inhabitants will have a deputy, being a threefold increase on the late Corps Legislatif. Whosoever pleases may set up as a candidate, the expenses of the contest being defrayed from a common local fund.

I have made many excursions into the neighboring towns since I came here, and everywhere I find the same note of preparation—the same feeling of resisting to the last. I am satisfied it is only in the Provinces

THE TRUE VERDICT OF THE NATION is to be found. They have the ripest views about the future and the justest about the past. They accept the Republic, as 'it divides them least,' but it must be one devoted to peaceful pursuits, not military chimeras. They desire to leave to history the memory of those days when their Malachis wore their bright collars of gold. They will no more be the humble registrars of Parisian dictation—they dread not the perils of the Girondins nor the severities of La Verdee as consequences of independence. The country must color the town—and true Republicanism replace the false professed by Social Democrats.

ONE OF THE CRUELEST ROBBERIES

—We have the evidence to call a spade a spade—was the purloining by the late regime of the funds of the City Savings Bank where the thrifty poor had deposited their humble economies. The Government has undertaken to make good the defalcation and announces the immediate payment of fifty francs per each book, where so entitled, and Treasury bonds carrying five per cent interest for the remainder.

It is quite common to meet in the journals offers from the humane to adopt

ONE OR MORE CHILDREN

Made orphans by the war. Perhaps there is no nation surpasses the French in ordinary times in adopting little strangers, who are ever sure to find all the comforts of a home. Whatever degree of love a marriage de raison may command, there can be no doubt as to the affection for children by the French. There is hardly a Mobile from the Provinces now battling before Paris but has the assurance from a friend in the capital to find a home, if wounded, with them; or, if killed, loving attentions to seek him out and follow him to the grave. These Mobiles are really all 'young men from the country'; and it is astonishing to study the radical differences in their character. The most amusing are the Bretons beyond doubt, who dance and sing like Savoyards when not at drill. Two things they all agree upon to remain French to the last, and to defend Paris—their Moece—with their lives. They have fallen into the city snarl of keeping late hours, and Gen Trochu has ordered that if found out of their lodgings after 10 at night they will be punished, and the householders upon whom they are billeted are requested to give them no latch-keys nor to open a door after curfew-bell hour. The Provisional Government has decreed that those persons occupying houses in Paris, but having left the capital, will be subjected to a tax according to the figure of their rent, the lowest being at the rate of 20 francs per month. This is a little too hard, after entreating all 'useless mouths' to clear out of the city. However, one will not begrudge it to have our beautiful city restored to us, and equally will they be content to pay it over to the memory of the brave. An eyewitness informed me that he was present at the CAPTURE OF A TRAIN AT CREIL. Four thousand Uhlans, all young, strong, intelligent men, seemed to drop from the clouds at the station. They knocked at the gates for admission, which on being opened, they dashed at the driver of a goods train, firing a revolver over his head to bring him to, which perfectly succeeded. In the twinkling of an eye the 'table points' were raised and thrown with the telegraph apparatus into the river. The Mayor was seized and 'confessed,' with a revolver beside his head. The cash boxes were emptied with a clarity worthy of the 'true Trochu,' and a requisition presented for man and beast that made the Mayor's hair grey. Ultimately the demand was compounded for some boxes of cigars and tobacco. Seizing some poultry, which they tied to their saddles, they departed for fresh fields and pastures new.

Why is an umbrella high church? Because it always keeps lent.

Queen Augusta.

WOMAN'S AMBITION—HER INFLUENCE OVER KING WILLIAM—POLITICAL SHREWDSNESS AND BOLDNESS.

The war in Europe, which has de-throned one Empress, and has driven her forth an exile and a wanderer, will probably result in the elevation of another woman to the Imperial dignity.

Queen Augusta, wife of King William of Prussia, has for years entertained the ambition of becoming the Empress of Germany. Even long before she reached the throne she was impressed with this idea, and in turn impressed it upon the mind of her husband. In fact, it was her boldness that brought King William to the throne. In 1848-49 after the Berlin insurrection, the insanity of the old King of Prussia, brother to his present Majesty, became more marked and led to numerous Court intrigues. The dominant faction, of course, attempted to make light of the malady, their object being to govern in the king's name. It was denied that he was insane, and asserted that at the worst his malady did not incapacitate him for business. The difficulty was increased by the unwillingness of the physicians to pronounce any definite opinion. It was under these circumstances that her Majesty, then Crown Princess, invited Dr Roecker, the distinguished physician and philosopher of Berlin, to the palace. She received him entirely in a friendly manner, and in professional capacity. She led the conversation on general subjects of art, gliding naturally to the absorbing question of the king's illness. The Princess expressed the grief of the family, and asked whether there was really any hope of his complete restoration to mental and physical health. The physician, thrown off his guard, replied, 'Not in the slightest.' The Princess instantly arose, pushed open some folding doors of a room in which were seated members of the Council, legislators, members of the royal family, and the high officers of State. With a commanding voice she ordered Prof Roecker to repeat his statements respecting the condition of the King's health. He had no alternative but to obey, and in a few days her husband was declared Regent with full authority. He retained his position until he assumed the title of King on the occasion of his brother's death, which occurred a few days afterward. And ever since, her large, ambitious character has exercised a marked influence upon the King.

Queen Augusta, notwithstanding her ambition, is not wanting in any element of true womanhood. Her devotion as a wife and a mother are appreciated by her family, while her deeds of kindness and charity render her deservedly beloved and popular. But with these more sterling home qualities, she combines a large knowledge of men and politics, and takes a deep interest in all that relates to literature and art. Her Majesty was the magnificent patron of Goethe, and in her youth she came much in contact with that illustrious character, and her character, in no slight degree was influenced, if not modeled by him. In taste, cultivation and intellect she is vastly superior to her husband, who is simply a large, bluff, honest, hearty, self-willed and somewhat dull old gentleman.

French Medicines.

PREPARED BY

GRIMAULT & CO.

PARIS.

These different medicines represent the most recent medical discoveries, founded on the principles of Chemistry and Therapeutics. They must not be confused with secret or quack medicines, as their names sufficiently indicate their composition; a circumstance which has caused them to be appreciated and prescribed by the faculty in the whole world. They widely differ from those numerous medicines advertised in the public papers as able to cure every possible disease, as they are applicable only to but a very few complaints. The most stringent laws exist in France, with regard to the sale of medical preparations, and only those which have undergone an examination by the Academy of Medicine, or have been proved efficacious, either in the Hospitals, or in the practice of the first medical men, are authorized by the Government. This fact must be a guarantee for the excellence of Messrs. GRIMAULT & Co's medicines.

Women's and Children's Diseases.

Grimault's Syrup of Iodized Horse Radish.

Patronized for more than twenty years by the Paris Physicians, for laryngitis, tracheitis, scrofula, congestion of the glands of the neck, paleness and flabbiness of the flesh, loss of appetite, weakness of constitution, the various eruptions on the face, boils, pimples, tinea, etc., it is the best remedy against the first stage of consumption, and is the most powerful depurative known.

DOCTOR LERAS'

(Doctor of Medicine.)

SOLUBLE PHOSPHATE OF IRON.

Clear as spring water and tasteless; has the advantage over all ferruginous preparations of containing Iron and Phosphorus, which are the elements of the blood. It cures chlorosis, paleness of the face, difficult digestion, diarrhoea, anæmia, general debility, and all disorders of the blood, and agrees especially with the most delicate stomachs.

LUNG DISEASES.

Grimault's Syrup of Hypophosphite of Lime.

It is the best and the most rational of all remedies against consumption. Under its influence the cough abates, the night sweats cease, and the patient rapidly recovers health. It gives the same results in cases of coughs, catarrhs, hooping coughs and influenza. In comparing this syrup with the other sold under similar names, it will be easy to recognize the superiority of this Preparation.

Therefore to avoid any substitution, please to require on the bottle the signature: GRIMAULT and Co.

MR. CHENG-FUN A CARD-EDITOR

Business Correspondent.—Through the medium of your paper I want to state the very great good that has been done me by Mr. Cheng-Fun of this city, next door to King, Lee & Co. For 24 years I suffered with neuralgia on the brain, which baffled the skill of three first-class American physicians. Latterly bronchitis attacked my right lung, and my eyes became awfully inflamed. Despairing of ever being cured I placed myself as a last resort in the hands of Mr. Cheng-Fun, and after five months treatment I am a well man and feel that I cannot soundly commend this gentleman's services too loudly, so that all my countrymen similarly affected may visit him and find relief. Respectfully,

JOHN HENTON, of Kentucky, U.S.
